5th Annual A Run For Liane
Supporting the SickKids Foundation

June 2007

Volume 1, Issue 1

BMO's 5th Annual A Run for Liane Sunday, September 30, 2007

Hope you all had a good year at work or school.

It seems like only yesterday that we saw you at the 2006 STWM and here it is June. We look forward to seeing you all at this year's event.

We've been busy gearing up for the 5th Annual A Run for Liane which includes:

- a redesigned website
- a simplified STWM / Run for Liane registration process
- a new Learn to Run / Walk Program to get you going.

Visit www.rememberliane.com for complete details.

The Joggler Joggles On....

Where does it end?

We were there when Michal smashed the Joggling record again in 2006 with a time of 2:57:53. Zach Warren of Boston, that other joggler, again joggled his way to beat Michal's record in November. Zach's time was a stunning 2:52:15.

Michal was more determined than ever to regain his title.

Michal's training included joggling the Longboat Toronto Island Race

(2007) where he joggled the 10K to a record 36:27 – without a drop. Then again in March, he joggled 30K at the Around the Bay Race and managed a record time of 1:54:44 with only four drops. Fast forward to the Salt Lake City Marathon (April 2007) where Michal and Zach met up yet again to joggle ball-to-ball (sic!) together in a joggling duel rematch. Michal did about 35,000 catches and four drops – not bad. He sprinted at the end and came in at 2:53:28 – “a personal best, the best I could have done, but one minute and 13 seconds shy of the record that I so desperately wanted. Just over 3 1/2 minutes later, Zach came across the line, looking probably much the same way I did when I finished: like burnt toast.”

Does Michal have another joggling marathon in him? Visit TheJoggler.blogspot.com at thejoggler.blogspot.com to find out...

Our New Website

Our dedicated webmaster, Harrison, worked diligently this winter (in between school assignments) to create a leaner and cleaner website. Final updates will be completed by mid-June when Harrison returns from doing a humanitarian stint building a school in Nairobi.

Michael...

Hard to believe, but Michael (Liane's big brother) is graduating with a BSc in Molecular Genetics in June and will be off to graduate school in the fall. He's on the waiting list for Dalhousie Medical School, but is applying to Masters Programs just in case.

He sure keeps Bob and Janet motivated to continue working.
